Memorial Service

For those who have lost a loved one, in whatever circumstances, memories are so precious. Time may smooth the pain of bereavement, but so many things can evoke memories – a word, a place, a piece of music. For all who want to remember in peace, the church building can be the place to be quiet and reflect. Here in Skegness, St Matthew's is open on weekday mornings for anyone and everyone to come in. And for many, the regular memorial services held there three times a year – in January, May and September – are open to everyone, whenever and wherever the funeral was held. It's an opportunity to remember with thanksgiving those who have been important in our lives. The candles that are lit during those services are an important reminder that we are all together in our grief and that the light of Christ is around us and with us.

Perhaps, on reflection, you may think that the funeral of your loved one wasn't quite the service that you expressly wanted or needed at the time. If that is the case, come and see if a service that offers a different space for your thoughts can help.

The next memorial service is in St Matthew's Church ('the church on the roundabout') at 6.00 pm on Sunday 21 January. Come along, bring family and friends, hear a message of hope, listen to music, say a prayer and, if you wish, light a candle. It is led by members of the team who will be familiar to many, both in a church and community context.

Even if you think that you or your loved one were 'not religious', this event may just help you on the journey through a difficult period in your life....it may even help in the realisation that we are all together in something much bigger than ourselves.

Reverend Christine Anderson

The Daily Service Celebrates A Big Birthday

Ninety years ago this month BBC Radio broadcast for the first time a short Daily Service at 10.15. In those days, that was the start of its daily programmes. It's half an hour later now, but it's still there, the longest running programme on the BBC, after News and Weather forecasts.

The appearance of the Daily Service in 1928 was, in fact, the result of a tireless and determined campaign by a lady in Bushey, Hertfordshire, Miss Kathleen Cordeux. For two years she had campaigned for a short Christian service each morning 'for the sick and house-bound' – 'just some sacred music, a hymn, a Bible reading and prayer'. Through the letters column in the Radio Times, and then by bombarding the director-general of the BBC, John Reith, after two years, she got her way – at first as an 'experiment', to test the demand.

The response from listeners was immediate and enthusiastic and 90 years later, I think even she would be surprised to find that it is still there every day on Radio 4. And it still follows her proposed content: sacred music, a hymn, a Bible reading and a prayer.

The great North Sea Flood of January 1953

Exceptional weather conditions 65 years ago, on 31 January and 01 February 1953, created what has been described as the worst national peacetime disaster to hit the UK – the North Sea flood.

In England, 307 people were killed as the sea broke through along the East Coast, but Holland was even more badly hit: 1836 people died there.

The cause of the disaster was a deep Atlantic depression passing to the north of Scotland and moving southeast down the relatively shallow North Sea. Northerly gales forced sea water south at high tide, causing a tidal surge which locally exceeded 18.4ft above mean sea level. (In normal conditions, 9ft is considered very high.)

Because no warning system was in place, whole communities were unaware of the imminent threat. As well as the deaths in England and the Netherlands, 28 died in Belgium, 19 in Scotland and 361 at sea, including 133 on the ferry MV Princess Victoria.

As a result of the inundation, an official service for forecasting coastal flooding – the Storm Tides Warning Service – was established within the Met Office. It aims to forecast this kind of event five days ahead. Sea defences have also been hugely improved.

The Silver Line

Some of you may recognise Kirsty Mowbray from 'St Matthews Toddler Group'. This is not the only volunteering she does - Kirsty is involved with the charity 'The Silver Line' a free and confidential helpline for people over 60, founded by Dame Esther Rantzen. More than half of people over 75 live alone and 1 in 10 suffer intense loneliness.

The Silver line team answers telephone calls from anybody wanting somebody to talk to, about literally anything, and gives an opportunity for the lonely to tell us how they are feeling. All calls are treated in the strictest confidence. Our National FREE helpline at any time of the day is 0800 4 70 80 90.

The newly established Lincolnshire Coastal BID (Business Improvement District) Company is looking forward to a very busy 2018 with promotion of the beautiful, vibrant Lincolnshire Coast, including the popular resort destinations of Skegness, Ingoldmells, Chapel St Leonards, Sutton-on-Sea and Mablethorpe. The BID was voted in by the majority of some 1100+ businesses across the Lincolnshire Coast area and is now putting plans in place to attract more visitors to the coast through improved promotion, introducing new events – as well as supporting some existing events, improvements for branding and aesthetics of the area as well as greater support for businesses.

The BID should generate in the region of £3m over the next 5 years, money paid in by businesses – 1.5% of rateable value above £5,000 – will be invested for a variety of projects within the BID area. Plans to date already include the return of Summer Firework displays for both Skegness and Mablethorpe to help bring a boost to the night-time economy, a vintage seaside festival, Halloween events and more. With the help of a brilliant team of Coastal Ambassadors, a promotional tourism trailer will attend events and attractions throughout the coastal area and further afield.

Production of promotional videos is already underway to highlight what our wild and natural coastline can offer for both residents and visitors. Skegness business owner, Danny Brookes said "The Lincolnshire Coast embracing the BID is a great step forward in securing collective responsibility for improving our fantastic area and developing it as the best Coastal destination in the UK!" Look out for the new BID website coming soon, you can also keep up to date with information on Facebook and Twitter @visitlincscoast

Winthorpe Community Partnership

The Winthorpe Community Partnership started some years ago as a tenants association working with local housing providers. During the last few years the group has strengthened and felt the need to develop and it is now a CIO, charitable incorporated organisation.

Its base is an old Methodist building on the main road in Winthorpe. The Methodists allows them to run the building and fully support the community work they are doing. A lot of things carried out at the community centre benefit local people and many different activities are organised. Service providers are invited to deliver and address what is needed by the community. The centre is run by volunteers and the Community Coordinator is Jodi Bradbury.

The aim of the group is to provide the community with more choice and more opportunities and to build on that knowledge. Clubs, activities, training and anything else needed to benefit and improve the health and well-being in the community. The intention is to build a purpose built community hub within the next few years and to bring more health services to the community along with the social aspects which are already offered.

By working with the residents, service providers and partners it is hoped to create a dynamic and inclusive neighbourhood where everyone works together.

The Site Of The Former Tower Gardens Pavilion New Community Building A Step Closer

At its meeting on Wednesday 06 December, Skegness Town Council agreed to move forward to the next stage of developing a community building on the site of the derelict pavilion in Tower Gardens. During the feasibility and business planning stage, the Council will continue to consult with residents of Skegness, to inform and help shape the future of what the building could look like.

At the end of the feasibility and business planning stage, outline drawings will be produced together with cost estimates so that the Council can consider whether to proceed to seek planning consent, obtain the funding and move forward to the construction stage.

At the meeting the Council extended its vision to include requesting the transfer of the whole of Tower Gardens and the car park in Scarbrough Avenue from East Lindsey District Council so that Skegness Town Council can control the environment around the new building and be able to ensure that the park meets the needs of residents for years to come. Consultation during the feasibility stage will start soon.

Skegness Business Awards

The 3rd Skegness Business Awards were the best ever, said Paul Dixon Chair of the Skegness Partnership. He was speaking at the conclusion of a spectacular night at the Southview Hotel where 220 people from the Skegness Business Community celebrated success, effort and downright determination from the people behind the businesses. There was a large entry for the 10 categories. Some familiar from previous years such as Accommodation of the Year which was won by the Savoy Hotel and new categories including Health & Beauty which proved very popular. The winner Beautique, a relatively new business took the crown with finalists Top Notch and Hair Trix very worthy contenders.

The winner of the Learning Achiever of the Year, Paula Swain demonstrated that age is no barrier to education and that determination and doggedness are more effective than a gift or talent taken for granted. Through tears and supported by compere Melvyn Prior from BBC Radio Lincolnshire, she outlined the journey which has taken her to university "achieving her dreams".

The finalists ranged from the new, through growing businesses to the established. They had each been challenged and assessed through a rigorous judging process which first shortlisted them as a finalist and then, under the scrutiny of a judging visit, to identify the best in category.

A new category Best Place to Eat was determined by public online vote and saw San Rufo's take the crown from Steak 'n Stuff and The Vine. Continuing the food theme, Chef of the Year was won by Mario Cantelmi from Mario's ahead of Chris Noble from the Windmill, Burgh le Marsh and Jamie Simmonds from the Links Hotel.

The premier accolade of Business of the Year went to Kirk's Quality Foods, which earlier in the evening had taken the Retailer of the Year award. Andrew Kirk for the firm praised their staff team and gave credit to his parents for starting them on the journey in Skegness; a town which they love. The awards are promoted by the Skegness Partnership and sponsored by local businesses. This year's main sponsor Hodgkinsons Solicitors said that their motivation for being involved was to recognise and reward the many excellent businesses in Skegness which work hard, year in year out, often in difficult circumstances. Paul Dixon Chair of the Partnership thanked the honoured guests Matt Warman MP, East Lindsey District Council, and Skegness Town Council, the latter the sponsor of the stunning table decorations. The stand out point being that Skegness businesses are the best in class and the joint effort with businesses can create this amazing celebration which is going from strength to strength.
