Living Within Our Means?

By the time you read this article we will have a new Prime Minister. Like or dislike her, Theresa May was given an impossible task. If we are honest, I do not think there are many of us who fully understood the implications of Brexit deals.

We have heard people who stand for election make promises of what they will do if elected and where money would be spent. We hear of people who are dissatisfied with services provided by our Government, Councils, Police, Fire, Ambulance, NHS to name a few as well as the Church. But where is the money going to come from and who will run the services?

As part of life we all have a budget to work within. We cannot spend money we do not have, and priorities must be made over our spending. Do you know what your budget is?

Even a new-born baby has a budget. Child benefit for the first born child is about £2.95 a day to ensure they are fed and clothed. On the other end of a scale, a basic state pension is about £18.45 a day. These amounts do not seem very much and in reality they are not. When you look at expenditure of food and household bills there is not a lot to spare.

In the Bible it talks about how to live within your means. The book of Proverbs: chapters 3, 11, 14 and 28 are where many of our grandparents may have got their sayings.

"The good leave an inheritance to their children's children, but the sinner's wealth is laid up for the righteous." Proverbs 13:22 (NRSV)

This passage clarifies a plan for money. A good person will plan a budget not only for themselves but for their children and their grandchildren. The benefits system was meant for an emergency when you were not able to work because of illness. Then you went back to work again.

We think of how the services used to be provided and it is easy to blame the new leader for failing in their duty to provide services the way they were. Our Lives are changing, and we should not only think about ourselves but our future generations. When we find ourselves moaning about what other people are doing, maybe we should stop and think about how we can make a difference? What is the service we provide? What is the income and expenditure? What people do we need to ensure services are met?

The Church is no different. It has a budget and it needs volunteers. With an increasing workload and less money coming in we do rely on our volunteers. Without volunteers the Church could not operate church services or services to hospitals, nursing homes, groups and visiting those at home.

Thank you to all of those who give donations and volunteer in our churches. This is helping us to live within our means.

Reverend Michelle Houldershaw - Associate Priest

NEWLY ELECTED MAYOR – IN HIS OWN WORDS

It gives me great pleasure to write this article for this edition of the Skegness Town Council newsletter. When you read this I will have been in office as the Mayor of Skegness for a few weeks and just finding my feet so to speak.

Having being denied the chance to be Deputy Mayor I often get asked if I'm going to find it a challenge and hard not following in the footsteps of previous Mayors and seeing how it's done? The answer is no because life is one big challenge it is what you make it and I would rather not be compared to other Mayor's.

The only reason I say this is because I've always believed we should be individuals and not follow others because there isn't a right or wrong it's called a different approach in life. I am very passionate about Skegness and after living and working here all of my life I have seen its ups and downs so I hope that the newly elected councillors share the same passion and visions as me and deliver what's best for this Town and its residents for the future.

May I thank you all for giving me the opportunity to be the Mayor of Skegness and hope that you follow my year in office which will be my proudest achievement to date. I will do all I can to promote Skegness and hopefully encourage younger people to get involved with the council. Cllr M Dannatt, Mayor of Skegness.

COMMUNITY BUILDING – CONSTRUCTION UNDERWAY

Work started in May on the construction of the new community building in Tower Gardens. The building will better support community events in Tower Gardens and bring a new lease of life into the much loved gardens. The building will include a multi purpose function room and event space, a tea room with seating looking out on the gardens, a full changing places toilet with hoist as well as an office for the Town Council. After months of planning it is fantastic to see work underway to turn the Council's ambition to regenerate and revitalise this area and provide a focal point for community activities.

TOWER GARDENS – A NEW LEASE OF LIFE

A lot has happened since the responsibility to maintain the gardens was transferred to the Town Council in April this year. Borders have been cleared, waste removed, and bedding plants have been planted. The litter is being picked and bins emptied as necessary and the grass is getting cut much more often. Having a presence in the gardens seems to have helped towards reducing anti-social and criminal behavior and creating a more community feel in Tower Gardens.

Andria and John are the two new members of the grounds team who have been putting in the hard work, with the support of the rest of the grounds staff, to look after the gardens. They should be very proud of what they have achieved in such a short space of time. Lots of residents and business owners have noticed the change; the positive reaction from everyone has been lovely and a much-needed boost to staff morale, so a big thank you to all those who have taken the time to let the team know.

With the new community building and further improvements to the area it is hoped that the gardens will go from strength to strength. Along with maintaining the gardens comes the responsibility for any events on the land. If you would like to hold your community or charity event in Tower Gardens, please contact us or visit our new Events webpage for more information.

ALLOTMENTS

Skegness Town Council has several allotments available to rent for Skegness residents. The allotments are situated on Graham Road, which is just off Lincoln Road. If you have ever wanted to grow your own fruit and veg but didn't have the land now is your chance.

The allotments are very affordable at just £35.00 per year (which includes the water supplied to the allotments) plus a refundable £5.00 key deposit for the gate.

If you are interested in getting an allotment please contact us on 01754 766113 or e mail us at info@skegnesscouncil.org.uk.

Skegness Business Awards

The fifth Skegness Business Awards 2019 were launched on 05 July when the sponsors and last year's overall winner Phoenix Fitness met to raise the banner on the beach. Now that the awards are open you have the whole summer to nominate the best of Skegness businesses and cast your vote for the Best Attraction. The business awards are designed to recognise the vital contribution that business makes to our quality of life in Skegness and the local area. There is a wide range of awards to reflect the whole spectrum of business; something for everyone. The awards are promoted by the Skegness Business Area Chamber who themselves meet monthly for sharing knowledge and experiences. More information about Chamber can be found on their website www.skegnesschamber.com

Nominations are now open for you to put forward your favourite businesses to be recognised for an award. You can see how to nominate them on the awards website:

British Bomber Crash in Skegness

from May Hill's Diaries

Following a shopping visit to Skegness on Wednesday 30th July 1941, May Hill wrote in her Diary, after returning to her home near The Point in Chapel St Leonards:

We went to Skegness this afternoon. Father [husband Will] wanted his basic ration coupons (for petrol) also petrol and I wanted one or two things, got them all except cup hooks. Lots of people in Skegness. Many complaints that they are eating up all the food supplies needed by residents. Can easily believe it as all the thousands of R.A.F. recruits and sailors from Royal Arthur must make a tremendous difference.

Mr A [future son-in-law - in photo] was just going back to his office after dinner when we arrived. He appeared rather upset. A British bomber had crashed into the sea this morning off Skegness and only part of the crew were saved. It was too late by then to expect any more to be alive even if they could be got at. The plane was completely submerged.

The aircraft was Hampden AD970, a bomber which crashed into the sea no more than half a mile from Skegness Pier shortly after take-off from RAF Coningsby. The pilot and one airman did indeed survive but the body of one crewman was never recovered. This was mentioned years later, in the Lincolnshire Standard, in July 2004, following the discovery by Skegness beachcomber Richard Bainbridge of a brass plaque which almost certainly came from one of the twin engines.

Diary extracts and poetry with photographs and notes appear in the book 'The Casualties Were Small' by May Hill (available from Skegness Church Farm Village Museum or Chapel St Leonards Bookshop). For more details, search 'may hill wwii' for blog, e-books, twitter and Facebook or phone Tom Ambridge on 01394 385412.

New Book 'On Chapel Sands' and May Hill's Diaries

Readers of weekend newspaper book review sections will hopefully have noticed the announcement of the new book 'On Chapel Sands – My Mother and Other Missing Persons'. The book has been rightfully hailed as a modern masterpiece and rated highly in the non-fiction best-seller charts. It has also been read by its author Laura Cumming on BBC Radio 4 as Book of the Week.

The plot is a true-life mystery story centred around the quiet kidnap in 1929 of a toddler Betty Elston from the beach at Chapel St Leonards, while in the care of her adoptive mother Veda. The tale of intrigue and secrecy continues as the details of her origin, adoption and wider family connections are unravelled over long distances and a timespan of nearly ninety years.

A fascinating aspect of the book, for long-term senior residents of Chapel, Hogsthorpe and Skegness too, is the appearance of numerous named local characters, especially in the WWII period when Betty was a teenager. Her headteacher at Skegness Grammar School, Mr Spendlove, appears often, including reference to his sadness at the loss of life of a 17-year old ex-pupil serving as an R.A.F. fighter pilot. Mr S and many others with key roles in the plot, including Betty herself, are also mentioned in May Hill's Diaries.

Quoting in the new book, Laura writes: 'Looking for news of Chapel in the 1940s I came across the wartime diaries of villager May Hill, published by her children to commemorate their clearly brave and loving mother. Among the talk of air raids and rationing, of picking brambles and trying to shoot a wild rabbit to fill the pot, there is to my amazement a sudden appearance by my mother... "Poor Betty Elston has suddenly been taken out of school and is at Stow's Post Office at present. She is clever so probably won't be there won't be there long." Alas she was wrong.'

The book goes on to describe how Betty carried on 'imprisoned' at the tiny Post Office in the dingy corner of the village grocery store for almost two years until, thanks to encouragement by her former art teacher at Skegness Grammar, she 'escapes' to Art College in Nottingham and then, with a scholarship, in Edinburgh and to a new life.

'On Chapel Sands' by Laura Cumming published by Chatto & Windus, £16.99 hardback, is also available as an Amazon Kindle e-book. May Hill's Diaries are online in full as a blog 'Seventy Years On' (search may hill wwii) or as a four-volume set of Kindle e-books 'An RAF Mother's WWII Diary Blog'. See elsewhere in Shoreline for details of the popular abridged version 'The Casualties Were Small' by May Hill, £8.99 paperback.

Church Festival

The Lincolnshire Wolds & Coast Churches Festival is going to be a great celebration, with over 140 churches opening their doors during the weekends of 31st August & 1st September and 7th & 8th September 2019.

With free entry, churches and chapels from Louth to Woodhall Spa, Wragby to Sutton on Sea, will be celebrating their rich architecture and heritage and offering visitors the chance to become treasure seekers and discover hidden secrets.

“Our churches are full of wonder,” says Revd Nick Brown, rector of Louth St James. “Each offers a different experience, whether it is beautiful tranquillity and spirituality or vibrant exhibitions and music or simply offering a welcoming oasis of peace and calm.”

“The festival is also about having family fun,” continues Nick. “Time is so precious today as families juggle busy lives against quality leisure days out. So we have created fantastic activities that every member of the family will want to get involved in. Some churches will have backpacks available, encouraging ‘treasure seekers’ to explore the beauty of our stained glass windows, and even create their own masterpiece window to display at home. And we also invite everyone to take the challenge and try and spot all the treasures in our brand new Church Treasure Hunt book, not only during the festival weekend but beyond as well.”

Mini museums on your doorstep

The festival is the perfect way to discover these “mini museums” on your doorstep. The Festival covers a wide area of rural Lincolnshire, encompassing the market towns of Louth, Spilsby, Alford, Horncastle, Tattershall, Wragby, Woodhall Spa and Skegness as well as a hundred rural hamlets and seaside villages in between, each church is unique, with an intriguing story to discover:

- St James Louth has the tallest steeple of any medieval church in England and played a pivotal role in the Lincolnshire Rising.
- St Margaret Well and a gamekeeper who was murdered by poachers, reputed to be the source of the Lincolnshire Poacher.
- Raithby has the oldest Methodist chapel in the county. Built in 1779 and opened by John Wesley, it reveals an exquisite and lovingly preserved Georgian interior.
- Fulletby St Andrew, set high in the Wolds is constructed like many churches around, in local greenstone. Although undergoing many alterations, the church still retains a two-seater sedilia from a previous medieval church. A small exhibition on local Victorian poet, Henry Winn provides an entertaining look at life in rural Lincolnshire, and also explains why Winn is featured in the Guinness Book of Records.
- St James, Spilsby with its Willoughby chapel contain fine tombs and brass connected to the Willoughby de Eresby family. They are well worth a visit as well as the stone memorials for Sir John Franklin and his brothers.
- Lincolnshire’s seaside churches hold a charm of their own. Many are large like Theddlethorpe All Saints which is also known as the “Cathedral of the Marsh” due to its impressive spaciousness and beautiful exterior carvings. And next door, St Helens has a fine stone reredos. Other striking churches found on this landscape are close by including Addlethorpe, which is holding a flower festival celebrating the Angel roof, Croft All Saints with its 15th century altar screen and Skidbrooke with the early medieval isolated church of St Botolph standing alone in the Lincolnshire marshes.
- Then there are churches that hold quirky facts. For instance, St Andrew Ashby Puerorum claims to house the oldest bell in England! And a gamekeeper who was murdered by poachers on the estate of Well, close to the Georgian chapel, is reputed to be the source of the Lincolnshire Poacher song! And what about Stewton, St Andrew? Who would have thought that tucked away in rural Lincolnshire you would find the church used by Hornby, the international company, to be a model for their Skaledale village!

Many activities are also planned: from organ recitals to flower and art exhibitions, bell ringing to afternoon teas. There will also be exhibitions at many churches including Holy Trinity Hagworthingham, St Andrew Anderby, St Lawrence Revesby and St Margaret Thimbleby.

Find hidden treasures

“The invitation is offered to everybody to come and celebrate our rich church heritage,” sums up Nick. “Whatever the weather, make sure that during two weekends in September, you take to the outdoors. You’ll be able to learn about our communities’ heritage, view magnificent carvings, memorials and stained glass, chat with local historians, listen to the sounds of church music and of course, find all those hidden treasures! You will not be disappointed.”

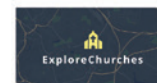

Of course, all the Lincolnshire Wolds & Coast churches are here for every day, to be explored and enjoyed at any time, not just for visiting for two weekends of the year. A comprehensive directory featuring all our churches is now available from Tourist Information Centres, on the Festival website www.lincswoldsandcoastchurches.org and on the ExploreChurches website: www.explorechurches.org

Every church really does have a story to tell.

Full details of what each church is offering can be found on the festival website: www.lincswoldsandcoastchurches.org. The festival invites people to join them on Facebook/LincsWoldsAndCoastChurches and Twitter/ChurchesFest and use hashtag #WoldsAndCoastChurches when talking about the event online.

Brochures will also be placed in libraries, Tourist Information Centres and participating churches, and can be requested by emailing: lincswoldsandcoastchurches@gmail.com or calling 01507 527905.

The Lincolnshire Coast & Wolds Churches Festival project is supported by the National Churches Trust and managed by NCT Heritage Services (company number: 11194504). The project has been funded by the generous donations of National Lottery Players as well as the following organisations: ExploreChurches, National Lottery Heritage Fund, Visit Lincs Coast and East Lindsey District Council.

Community Diary Dates August 2019

Each month we show the Church Diary Dates. We would like to have a page of Community Diary Dates but we need you to tell us those dates. If you know of any event that is happening in the area please do let us know so that we can add it to the diary. The more people who know the more support you will get at your event!
