A Message from the Rector

Over the last few weeks I have been thinking about the welcome we get when we go abroad and also the welcome that we show to those people who visit us. As a former merchant seaman I have visited most countries in the world that have a coastline. There are very few places that we were not given a warm welcome and I think that it is very much the nature of most people to be warm, welcoming and friendly.

As a Christian community we are called to a ministry of welcome not only to people that we know and like but also to those we don't know. We are called to welcome the stranger in our midst and even more than that we are called to love those whom we meet even those we would think of as an enemy. To follow Christ is sometimes a difficult path but it is often that we find that the new person, the stranger is a new friend and a joy and blessing in our lives.

It is especially important now with the imminent departure from the institutions of Europe that we continue to welcome people from different countries and cultures. To have open hearts and minds. There are those who wish to abuse our friendship with acts of terrorism and hatred as we have seen too many times over these last few months. These are people to whom hatred is natural and we must not let them alter our ability to look at the stranger as a potential friend. We must step forward with a greeting and warm welcome to all.

Revd. Richard G. Holden
Rector

All In The Month of August

It was:

400 years ago: on 23 Aug 1617 that the world's first one-way streets were introduced – in London.

125 years ago: on 24 Aug 1892 that Goodison Park opened in Liverpool. It was one of the world's first purpose-built football stadiums, and is the home of Everton FC.

90 years ago: on 13 Aug 1927 that the BBC took over the running of The Proms in London, following the death of their founder, the impresario Robert Newman, who had run them since 1895. The Proms were also broadcast on the radio for the first time.

80 years ago: on 30 Aug 1937 that Bruce McLaren, the New Zealand racing driver, car designer and manufacturer was born. Founder of the McLaren Formula One team. (Died 1970.)

75 years ago: from 23 Aug 1942 to 2 Feb 1943 that the Battle of Stalingrad took place. It was the turning point of the war in Europe, and regarded as the largest and bloodiest battle in the history of warfare, and one from which the Germans never recovered.

70 years ago: on 14 Aug 1947 that Pakistan gained its independence from the UK. Muhammad Ali Jinnah was its first Governor-General. (Pakistan and India both officially became independent at midnight on 15 August, but Pakistan held its independence ceremony 30 minutes early, on 14, and now celebrates 14 Aug as its Independence Day.)

60 years ago: on 02 Aug 1957 that the Lovell Telescope at Jodrell Bank Observatory in Cheshire began operating. It was the world's largest steerable radio telescope at that time. It became fully operational on 11th Oct, just in time to track the Soviet Union's Sputnik 1 satellite.

50 years ago: on 18 Aug 1967 that the city of Long Beach California purchased the RMS Queen Mary after it was retired from service. It is now a tourist attraction featuring restaurants, a museum and a hotel.

40 years ago: on 16 Aug 1977 that Elvis Presley, 'The King', iconic American rock and roll singer, guitarist and actor, died.

30 years ago: on 19 Aug 1987 that the Hungerford Massacre took place in Berkshire when Michael Ryan went on a shooting rampage around the town. He killed 16 people, including his mother, before committing suicide.

20 years ago: on 31 Aug 1997 that Diana, Princess of Wales, her companion Dodi Fayed, and their driver, died in a car crash in the Place de l'Alma underpass in Paris.

10 years ago: on 27 Aug 2007 that Google launched Google Sky, a virtual globe application that maps space and allows users to view images from satellites and the Hubble Telescope.

Transfiguration

06 August is the anniversary of the explosion of the atom bomb at Hiroshima in 1945. Those of the generation born around that time have lived their days in the shadow of that awful threat. The menace has been before all of us as, at the push of a button, the earth transformed into a chaos of utter destruction.

In the United Nations building in New York there is a permanent display of exhibits brought from Hiroshima – metal welded to stone, shadows of bodies vapourised by the bomb still visible on pavements, and the sickness that lingers to this day in damaged genes. All a constant reminder to those who deliberate on the future of the world.

But it always seems strange that the bomb was dropped on 06 August – the same day that the Christian Church has been celebrating the Feast of the Transfiguration of Christ for well over 1000 years. (The word means transformation).

The story is told in the gospels of Matthew (chapter 17), Mark (chapter 9) and Luke (chapter 9) of Jesus, in an important point in his ministry going up a mountain to pray with his closest friends. As Jews, they were hoping he was the expected Messiah who was going to rid them of the hated Roman occupiers with military might. Instead he had taught them of peace and forgiveness; he had performed miracles, told them stories and associated with all sorts of people. While they were on the mountain his friends had a vision of Jesus in shining light, transfigured in majesty; his glory was seen, not in military might, but in the peaceful serving of others.

Nowadays we can think of other things that transform lives – a baby can make a difference to a family; a holiday can help those who are feeling run down; a kind word or a thoughtful act can transform the day for someone; Spring sunshine can transform those who suffer from winter depression. These, of course are different and, wonderful as they are, they are temporary. None of them lasts forever. On the other hand we continue to see sectarian societies and intransigent nations destroying each other for the sake of their own self-image.

So, on 06 August, the anniversary of Hiroshima and the Transfiguration of Christ, the dilemma of all humanity is laid before us – on the one hand the tendency for hatred and self-destruction and, on the other, the capability of redeeming love shining in transfigured glory.

Reverend Christine Anderson

Bishop's Letter

In place of a bishop's letter this month, the Revd David Dadswell, Bishop's Strategic Implementation Adviser and a member of Bishop Christopher's immediate staff, introduces himself and his role in the diocese.

Dear Friends

The pea harvest has just started as I write this. Huge machinery is marching across the fields with great urgency to gather and freeze the precious crop, so it can appear fresh and tasty on our tables into the darkest winter months. Harvest is a strong image for us as Christians. We need to be out in the fields telling people about Jesus, healing people's wounds, building lively communities where God's kingdom of justice and love transforms lives for the better.

It was a great joy and privilege for me when Bishop Christopher invited me to join his staff as a fellow worker in the harvest. The role he has asked me to fill is all about helping the diocese at all levels to deliver on its promises, particularly through the diocese's strategy and the learning communities. I've come from 20 years as an organisational consultant and bring insights and skills about structures, systems, ways of working and culture that enable what we want to happen to come into reality. So far I've been astounded at the variety of imaginative things going on in the diocese, at the commitment to making a difference and at the ability of Lincolnshire people to talk for England! That last feature is great for someone new to this sort of job. I've been getting huge amounts of information and insights into what it's like being the Church here – the challenges, the strengths, the history and the possibilities.

Something I learned as a consultant is that you're not the person who delivers the product. I hope that the work I will be doing with you will be useful and constructive, but it will only make sense if it helps you to be effective as an ambassador for Christ in your workplace, your community, your circle of friends, your place of education.

I look forward to meeting more of you friendly folk of greater Lincolnshire, and I ask for your prayers for the work I and my colleagues are doing to support your Christian witness.

On the roads into Skegness, many signs remind travellers that the town is twinned with Bad Gandersheim. It's a German town that few would otherwise have heard of, and if it is the twin of Skegness, then the two are certainly not identical. But that, in many ways, is a large part of the point of the process of town 'twinning', which sprung up in the aftermath of the Second World War. Towns and cities recently divided by conflict consciously sought to come together so that they could remind their respective citizens of the benefits of mutual understanding. Rather than promoting holidays – useful as those are too – the initiative aimed at the broader chance to encourage links across the continent by running exchange trips that fostered genuine understanding of what was different about other places in Europe, but also of what was similar. The murdered MP Jo Cox touched on similar themes in her maiden speech: 'we have more things in common than the things which divide us,' she said. Post-war that was of course a huge challenge to bring to life; today we still face difficulties within our peacetime society.

They all remain tied, though, to our relationship with Europe. After the referendum we are leaving the EU and all the politics that goes with it, but of course we are not moving geographically. Our nearest neighbours should remain our closest friends. Initiatives such as the twinning of towns reinforce that link, and the relationship between Bad Gandersheim – a spa town not far from Hanover – and Skegness is one which we should all applaud. It has benefitted generations of children and adults, and long may it continue to do so. Skegness has recently welcomed the latest German delegation, and next year, mid Brexit negotiations on the return trip, will be a crucial moment to remember all that binds the proudly independent nations of Europe together, and what make them gloriously different.

Jo Wheeler

Many moons ago, the highlight of my school year was filling in the forms to find a 'penpal'! I'm being quite literal here, because once I had a penpal, I was my usual rubbishy self in terms of keeping in touch and it all tailed off quite rapidly. But the excitement of filling in those lengthy forms – with a little box for each letter, was just too much to resist. Unfortunately, I think I used up all my form filling enthusiasm in those early years because I've got quite an allergy to them now and will beg, plead and even pay other people to do them for me. But just in case, you're unfamiliar with the whole penpal issue, after filling in pages and pages of information, you then waited half a year at least to be allocated a random overseas pal and the idea was to then to communicate, exchanging life stories, scribed on paper that was marginally thinner than a mansize Kleenex using a biro running on slimline ink. After that I can only assume that the missive was tucked in the girth of a passing donkey who was completing a Lands End to John O'Groats sponsored amble, on the offchance that someone might hurl it into the undercarriage of a passing Boeing 737. Air mail! Don't make me laugh.

The sending, the waiting, the endless waiting all proved too much for me – and I'd lose interest in the correspondence and the correspondent, pledging to do better with the following year's candidate. I suppose the whole concept of penpals has been forgotten now, with the advent of social media and electronic communication. Or at least transmogrified into an instant search with fully matched profiles using clever algorithms to identify a degree of commonality or possibly even a shared language! Not so with my penpal Christina! She was German and spoke no English – and I spoke no German. That was a big disappointment for my £1.50 investment.

I can't quite recall how I wasted the intervening 30 odd years, but I still didn't speak any German when I went with Skegness Silver Band to Skegness' twin town of Bad Gandersheim, but music being a universal language, we got by. What a trip that was! But it also got me thinking about the whole town twinning issue!

It all began just after 1945 with mayors and citizens across Europe desperate to create bonds between towns from countries that had been divided by war. Presumably so that Little Thorpe Hammingbourne would have empathy with their buddies in La ville de Monchien should they find themselves in any type of crisis. This is a great idea – and as relevant now as it was back then. A collective penpal! But we could actually bring all this into the present. Back in the day, towns looked for a suitable twin in much the same way as kids used to find penpals; lots of form filling, consideration, discussion and eventually, a marriage of sorts. Today – you can do all this online – a bit like a dating agency. So, we could actually take this a bit further – and my idea is Town Tinder! This app would allow towns to create their own bespoke profile – with pictures of their foremost attractions and a bit of blurb to sum up the ethos of the place! Other towns could view – swipe left if they're not interested, and right if they are! (I have it on good authority that is how it works). And maybe we could change our twin towns every few years, collecting lasting European friends along the way. The possibilities are endless and hopefully blessed with a better chance of success than my poor forgotten penpals.

Our friends from Germany: Episode Two

A party of 28 visitors came to Skegness from 01 to 06 June from our twin town Bad Gandersheim in Germany. Some of the visitors had been to Skegness before – a few of them many times. But for most of the visitors this was their first visit to Skegness. They were not disappointed. The weather was almost perfect. The first few days coincided with the school holidays. So they were able to see Skegness at its best: sunny and bustling with families enjoying themselves on the beach, in the town and at the many attractions. And it was not TOO bracing!

On the first full day, the Mayor of Skegness, Danny Brookes, invited our friends from Bad Gandersheim to a reception at the Town Hall. The Town Crier, Steve O'Dare, welcomed them on the steps with a greeting in German! The Mayor also invited the party to tea and cakes on the Saturday afternoon at his café on the High Street. There was an official dinner for the guests on the evening before they left. After the meal one of our members, Roy Miller, entertained guests on his accordion and we had a raffle with over a hundred prizes, generously donated by local people.

We went on a number of outings: to Gibraltar Point, Tattershall, Woodhall Spa and Newark. These were all very successful and much appreciated. Many of the guests also went on an impromptu visit to the Lincolnshire Wildlife Park at Friskney, where we had a close encounter with the tigers!

The objectives of the Skegness Twinning Association are to promote friendship and understanding between the people of Skegness and Bad Gandersheim. The German visitors expressed their concerns at the official gatherings that our mutual ties might be weakened by Brexit. We think we were able to demonstrate that, whatever the political situation, our friendship and hospitality are as strong as ever.

We are planning to visit Bad Gandersheim next year – dates still to be decided. If you would like to join us on that occasion – and enjoy the fantastic German hospitality in our beautiful twin town – please visit our website: www.skegnesstwinning.org or phone our chairman, Brian Chapman, on 01754761617.

The following year, 2019, marks the fortieth anniversary of twinning between Skegness and Bad Gandersheim. We want to make their visit to Skegness that year extra special. We hope you will help us.

Skegness Coeliac Disease Group

POP-IN CAFÉ, ST MATTHEW'S CHURCH, LUMLEY AVENUE, SKEGNESS
10 a.m. – 12 noon EVERY FRIDAY

The Skegness Coeliac Disease group is meeting at the Pop-In Café at St Matthew's Church, Lumley Avenue, Skegness every Friday morning between 10:45 and 12 noon.

Coeliac Disease is an auto-immune disease affecting at least 1 in every 100 people in the UK. The symptoms range from sickness, diarrhoea, dermatitis to indigestion, or no symptoms at all! Diagnosis is achieved by a blood sample followed up by an endoscopy (camera down the throat!).

The cause of the problem? Gluten! Gluten is found in all food items containing wheat, rye, barley i.e. bread, biscuits, cakes, beer and lager. There is no cure, and the only medication available is a lifelong abstinence of all things gluten!

Coeliac UK is the national charity dedicated to research to find a cure, and dedicated to supporting Coeliac sufferers across Britain. To this end, there is a Coeliac UK group in each county which provide a support network, holds regular coffee mornings, social events and food fairs, where all the food is 'gluten free heaven'! Lincolnshire has a Coeliac UK group based in Lincoln, but because the county is large, three sub-groups have sprung up – in Scunthorpe, Stamford, and here in Skegness.

The Skegness group is small and has met regularly once every month in a variety of venues, and we have now decided to put down some permanent roots and, hopefully, enlarge our membership. From June of this year, we are meeting in the POP-IN CAFÉ, ST MATTHEW'S CHURCH, LUMLEY AVENUE, SKEGNESS, between 10:45 and 12 noon EVERY FRIDAY.

This doesn't mean that you have to attend every week! It is very much a 'pop in' or 'drop in' venue. If you are in town and fancy a tea or coffee, a gluten free snack and a chat with fellow Coeliacs, the Pop In Café is the place to be. The café is open to all comers – it's an ordinary café – but there is plenty of space, the welcome is terrific, and you, your partner, your children, your family, are most welcome to drop by, whether or not you or yours are Coeliac!

Community Diary Dates August 2017

We hope you are enjoying reading Shoreline each month. We are working to improve the magazine each month and we would appreciate any feedback from you.

Each month we show the Church Diary Dates. We would like to have a page of Community Diary Dates but we need you to tell us those dates. If you know of any event that is happening in the area please do let us know so that we can add it to the diary. The more people who know the more support you will get at your event!
