Epiphany

On 06 January it's time to take down the Christmas decorations but Twelfth Night is also known in the Church as the Feast of the Epiphany. What goes on depends on the church you go to. The Greek Orthodox Church marks the baptism of Jesus in the waters of the River Jordan. In our more traditional churches, the figures of the Wise Men are put in the stable. (Matthew chapter 2 verses 1-12). They are traditionally thought of as the first believers in Jesus who weren't part of the Jewish faith. They were the outsiders, the odd men out. Yet the Wise Men in their fine dress, expensive gifts and different coloured faces, are symbolic of every nation on earth. As we gaze upon them are we mindful of strangers that come to us, not in rich robes, but in the poverty of contemporary outsiders: the refugees and asylum seekers from many nations, those tired of hypocrisy and disillusioned about political power-mongering; the young who want a star to rise in their lives that is worth following even though the journey may be difficult; the old and middle-aged who still dream of something more to enlighten them?

The journey of the Wise Men reflects the spiritual journey of many people. They followed a star from their corner of the earth and found Jesus in the most unlikely of places; and for many of us that journey is just as uncertain. We are forever looking for purpose and meaning in life. The challenge facing us is to find and follow our star. It can be a lifelong and hard, but joyous journey. The Wise Men encourage us to continue our quest.

Reverend Christine Anderson

Skegness Business Awards 2018

Thirty one shining finalists, who had been scrutinised through a judging process, met at the Southview Hotel last Friday 30 November to celebrate their success. Judging covered ten categories including the Best Place to Eat which was decided by ten thousand public votes. Promoted by the Skegness Business Chamber the event recognises the hard work and effort that goes into making Skegness the popular resort it continues to be.

This year the categories reflected the wide range of industrial, commercial and community activity that together make Skegness a happy, healthy and safe place to live and work. Matt Warman MP paid tribute to the sponsors without which the event could not take place. He congratulated them for supplying gifts for the goodie bags which each of the two hundred and twenty diners took away as a permanent reminder of a special evening. Paul Dixon Chair of the Skegness Business Chamber said "this is the fourth business awards and it has been the biggest and best yet. Skegness is a great place to do business and the Chamber welcomes new members to our meetings and business focused social visits". Details of how to contact us to discuss joining are at the foot of this page.

During the evening £1230 was raised for the Charity Hope for Tomorrow to support the mobile Chemotherapy unit in Skegness.

Jo Blogs! Jo Wheeler

2019! What a year this is going to be! No run of the mill New Year Resolutions for me! Oh no. This year I'm going to unravel one of the greatest mysteries of the Universe – something that is going to make me famous around the globe; recognised everywhere I go. I am going to receive such notoriety that people will fall at my feet. Yes. I am going to discover how to get a doctor's appointment!

Before I begin my quest, let me state, without reservation, that I think the NHS does an absolutely brilliant job and I owe my life to their expertise and dedicated care. I absolutely respect the size of the task that faces them, and for the most part, they cope admirably in keeping all the plates in the air. It's the little niggly day to day stuff that seems to be an issue. And I understand that in a tourist area such as ours, there must be an endless drain on medical resources as visitors to our beautiful county succumb to Skeggy Belly or heat exhaustion.

I marvel at how technology has changed our lives, pretty much on a daily basis. And certainly for a short period of time, registered patients could book appointments online. This generated a degree of 'survivor guilt' as there was always a nagging voice in the back of one's head that asked 'what about those without computers or who aren't computer literate?' And anyway, such appointment booking was always a few days hence.

And if all appointments are future booked, then we obviously need some way of knowing 'when' we're going to be feeling off colour. I'm thinking along the lines of a 'clairvoyant triage' here. Perhaps a nice lady in an official tunic, with a crystal ball to identify just when, in the coming year, we would most benefit from some clinical advice.

Because trying to get a 'same day' appointment is a fairly arduous affair. The advice used to be, to call at 8am. But the helpful receptionist herself, now confirms that this is a fruitless task. Instead, you need to queue up outside the practise BEFORE 8am, (and a friend of mine recommends 7am to be sure). This still won't guarantee an appointment, and I've queued and waited only to find all appointments were gone by ten past eight. For some reason this reminds me of communist Russia, with families waiting half the night for a limited bread delivery! Not to put too fine a point on it, I've been less stressed booking tickets for an Ed Sheeran concert! Perhaps this is a rather bizarre 'survival of the fittest' trial? As we move into the coldest part of the year, there's a good chance that the queue will be 'naturally' shortened by the time the doors open! Because, when all is said and done, nobody would be there if they weren't feeling 'under the weather!' And there's no queuing for someone else either. No option to leave Great Aunt Maud in the car with her 'slap cheek syndrome' or 'hand foot and mouth'. Oh no, she needs to haul every one of her 88 years onto a cold pavement to wait her turn, regardless of how she feels.

Now you might argue, that if someone is feeling SO green around the gills that a bit of bracing Skegness air before dawn is too much to handle, that they might be better going to A&E, 'Out of Hours,' or the 'Walk in Centre'

Now this is the second part of my quest – Out of hours? What hours? The Walk In Centre? Obviously not the place to go with a broken ankle. Can you turn up of your own accord, or do you need a special code from 111 to gain access? I'm sure all these things were put in place to make life simpler, but I suffer from that old British problem of not wanting to be a 'bother' and I simply don't understand.

I might even just have continued muddling my way through, had I not received a call from my practise to berate me for not having made an appointment! What? I had an appointment, they had arranged it. Then they cancelled it and rebooked, only to call and say I should have booked an appointment as it was a 'different' appointment from the one they'd given me, cancelled and rebooked. Silly me!

So, watch this space dear Reader, I hope to bring you helpful news before we all give up the will to live.

Air Raid on Skegness Town Centre - January 1941

May Hill wrote this entry in her diaries on 20 January 1941, when living in Anderby Road, Chapel St Leonards, near Chapel Point. Family members mentioned here are Coastguard husband Will and their youngest daughter Jean, a pupil at Skegness Grammar School.

On Saturday afternoon a German plane dropped 13 (approx) bombs at the sea end of Lumley Road. One fell on the Tower Cinema staircase but did not cause many casualties. I have heard one or two people were killed. Butlin House and Frearson's [solicitors] Office were hit and a Bank demolished. The relief bus for Chapel was hit, empty, fortunately the full bus was behind. I think debris from the Tower Cinema fell on it.

[Aside added later: It had not left bus' station after all. Some of the bombs were dropped in the roadway and Jean thinks there is one unexploded. She has heard too that Mr Charles of Charles' Café has died of shock tho' not hurt. His café was damaged.

Another aside added later: Mr C was pierced with glass.]

It was about 4.15 p.m. Jean and I were by the fire after she had got home from skating. We heard the bombs very distinctly. Father was on watch. They thought it was someone running up the [Coastguard watch-box] steps. It passed over Chapel on its way. I am very nervous with Jean going to school but do not want to upset her.

Some further updated details of the air raid and its outcome are as follows:

The Tower Cinema was hit by one bomb, but three hundred children at a matinee escaped injury. (See 'Skegness at War', Marjorie C Wilkinson, Cupit Press, Horncastle 2007, p 11.) The National Westminster Bank, on Rutland Road/ Lumley Road corner, was badly damaged but not demolished. The manager's wife and daughter were killed.

Charles Abraham Hershberg (of Charles' Café) died on the day of the raid.

Owen Kenrick Morgan was injured at nearby Rutland Road on the same day and died in hospital on 24th January.

Both names appear on Skegness War Memorial in the grounds of St Matthew's Church. (See website www.roll-of-honour.com/Lincolnshire/Skegness.html)

Selected diary extracts, with poetry and photographs, appear in the book 'The Casualties Were Small' by May Hill (available from Skegness Church Farm Village Museum or Chapel St Leonards Bookshop). For more, search 'may hill wwii' for blog, e-books, twitter and facebook or for information phone Tom Ambridge on 01394 385412

Skegness WI

More Than Just Jam and Jerusalem

The WI plays a unique role in providing women with educational opportunities and the chance to build new skills, to take part in a wide variety of activities and to campaign on issues that matter to them and their communities. Skegness WI reformed in 2012, and welcomes women of all ages. We meet at 7.15pm on the first Tuesday of every month at The Pavillion, Skegness Rugby Club, Wainfleet Rd.

Our programme provides for a variety of speakers, a couple of social evenings and visits to local places of interest. For example, in December we have a Christmas Social and in October a Craft and Pudding Night. We have visited Gunby Hall Gardens, Gibraltar Point and the EcoCentre. Highlights of our speaker programme have included the Skegness Musical Theatre Company, representatives from LIVES and a disaster relief charity.

Our members often participate in WI activities at Federation level, organised through a collective of local WIs. We go to quizzes, talks, demonstrations and outings. We also organise trips amongst ourselves to the theatre and meals out.

We welcome visitors to our meetings and information can be found on Facebook (Skegness WI) or by emailing: skegnesswi@gmail.com

Mother Teresa 90 years since her work began

Sister Mary Teresa – the future Mother Teresa – arrived in Calcutta 90 years ago this month, on 06 January 1929, to begin working with the poor and the sick.

Born Agnes Gonxha Bojaxhiu in Skopje, Macedonia, in 1910, she was of Albanian heritage but had moved to Ireland in 1928 to join the Sisters of Loreto – formally known as the Institute of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Her father had died suddenly when she was about eight, but her mother was a firm and loving influence on her.

She received the name Sister Mary Teresa after St. Thérèse of Lisieux. After making her first profession of vows in May 1931, she taught at St. Mary's School for girls. Six years later she made her final profession, after which she was called Mother Teresa.

As soon as she arrived in Calcutta she was exposed to the extreme poverty there, and this made a deep impression on her, eventually leading her to start a new order called The Missionaries of Charity, prompted by what she termed a 'call within a call' that she received in 1946, on a train journey from Calcutta to Darjeeling.

Her main objective was to look after people who nobody else was prepared to look after.

Brazen City Spiders

Who thinks up tests like this? Scientists have been out collecting spiders from rural and urban areas all across Europe, to test whether or not their natural fear of light is changing.

They found that country spiders, regardless from which country, still prefer quiet, dark places. However, urban spiders are becoming brazen, and are happy to build their webs near bright artificial light.

The study, published in the journal The Science of Nature, may be of some help to you next time you find a spider scuttling around your house: if it is daytime, at least you know your visiting spider is urbane!
