A Message from the Rector

Although this article is for the December issue of our Shoreline magazine, I am writing it at the beginning of November. Driving around I have noticed that already some of the houses have Merry Christmas and blow up reindeers outside and Christmas trees and lights inside. The adverts for everything that could possibly be bought as a gift have started on television.

People look forward to Christmas and its promised joys. There are things that people either love or dread. The arrival of relatives who can be great fun or possibly heavy going. Christmas lunch and time shared as a family. All the pressure to have the perfect Christmas that they seem to have in the adverts. Whatever the joys or difficulties of Christmas we have to prepare for it. We need to have presents ready and wrapped, we need the food to be bought and ready to go, we need to budget for the extra expense that Christmas brings.

In the church the time of preparation for us is Advent. We don't go full burn into Christmas but prepare ourselves for the real gift of Christmas. We have a quieter time as we reflect on God's gift of his only Son freely given for us on that first Christmas day. We have an Advent wreath festival in St. Matthew's which gives the church a festive look but without all the tinsel and lights. We have a Christmas tree during Advent but it is not dressed but waiting for the arrival of Christmas when it will be covered in tinsel and lights. A time of spiritual preparation when we give our souls a moment to breathe.

Then at Christmas we burst into joyful activity with Carols, Christingle services, Crib services and of course the Bethlehem Holy Communion at 9.30pm in Ingoldmells and the midnight Holy Communion in St. Matthew's. Christmas is one of the great festivals of the Church and we would love to see you at our services and events during Advent and Christmas. Merry Christmas and Peace and Blessings be yours this Christmas.

Revd. Richard G. Holden
Rector

All In The Month of December

It was:

250 years ago: on 22 Dec 1767 that John Newbery, the British publisher, died. He was one of the first to publish children's books, and the first to do so profitably and sustainably. Known as the 'Father of Children's Literature', the Newbery Medal for children's literature is awarded annually in his honour.

200 years ago: on 07 Dec 1817 that William Bligh, British Royal Navy officer and colonial administrator, died. Best known as the captain of HMS Bounty when a historic mutiny (the Mutiny on the Bounty) took place in 1789. He was set adrift in a small boat with some of his loyal crew, but managed to travel over 4,000 miles without any navigational aids to Timor, from where he returned to England.

150 years ago: on 06 Dec 1867 that (Marie) Jean Pierre Flourens, French physiologist and educator died. He was the first person to prove that the mind is located in the brain and not the heart.

125 years ago: on 18 Dec 1892 that Tchaikovsky's ballet The Nutcracker was performed for the first time, at the Mariinsky Theatre, in St Petersburg, Russia.

100 years ago: on 09 Dec 1917 that, during the Battle of Jerusalem, the Ottoman Empire surrendered the city to the British. On 11 Dec, the British General Edmund Allenby entered the city on foot (rather than horseback or vehicle) as a mark of respect, becoming the first Christian to control the city in 500 years.

75 years ago: on 01 Dec 1942 that the British Government published the Beveridge Report, which formed the basis of the welfare state.

65 years ago: on 05 Dec 1952 that the Great Smog of London took place. Dense, cold, smoke-filled fog descended upon London, bringing the city to a standstill for four days. More than 4,000 people died.

60 years ago: on 25 Dec 1957 that Queen Elizabeth II's Christmas Message was televised for the first time.

50 years ago: on 03 Dec 1967 that the world's first successful human heart transplant was performed by a team led by Dr Christian Barnard in Cape Town. The patient, Louis Washkansky, survived for 18 days before dying from pneumonia due to a weakened immune system.

40 years ago: on 16 Dec 1977 that Heathrow Central (now Heathrow Terminals 1,2,3) opened at Heathrow Airport as a station on the London Underground. It was the first airport in the world to be directly served by its city's underground railway system.

30 years ago: on 25 Dec 1987 that in the British TV soap opera Coronation Street, Hilda Ogden left the street to become her doctor's housekeeper in the country. It was one of the most-watched episodes in the show's history.

20 years ago: on 11 Dec 1997 that the Kyoto Protocol, aimed at reducing greenhouse gas and combating global warming, was adopted at a conference in Japan. (Over 190 countries have signed the agreement, which came into effect in Feb 2005. Canada withdrew in Dec 2012.)

Also 20 years ago: on 11 Dec 1997 that Sinn Fein president Gerry Adams met British Prime Minister Tony Blair at 10 Downing Street – the first Irish Republican leader to do so since Michael Collins in 1921.

15 years ago: on 07 Dec 2002 that Iraq submitted a weapons declaration to the United Nations in which it stated it had no weapons of mass destruction.

10 years ago: on 23 Dec 2007 that the British royal family launched The Royal Channel on the video sharing website YouTube.

There is always so much Christmas cheer in Skegness at this time of year, and seeing the community come together adds to the magic of the Christmas spirit exuded by all. Just one part of that is the braving of the cold in Santa suits for the annual fun run, where hundreds of people, of all abilities, pound the streets of Skegness to raise money for many local charities, not least the Lincolnshire Air Ambulance.

Indeed, we have a lot to thank our emergency services for this year, as once again they have put their lives at risk to keep us safe, be that in the Air Ambulance or on our Lifeboats, in the police and fire services, or among our medical services. By way of a small payback, I was delighted to support the Private Members' Bill in Parliament to protect emergency workers from being attacked at work, meaning that in due course assault will be an aggravated offence.

In Westminster in particular I am forever grateful for the risks our police men and women take to keep parliament safe every day, and tragically this year PC Keith Palmer lost his life protecting not only people, but our democracy itself. With the threat of terrorism rising, I have no doubt that we will all continue to be thankful for our emergency services for many more years to come and that we won't let those who seek to tear us apart succeed – if I have one enduring memory of Skegness this year, it is the sight of armed police on the streets in the wake of terrorist attacks, and of the gratitude of the public shown to each and every officer. Communities united, and people kept calm and carried on.

It's that spirit I'm privileged to see up close as I visit groups and individuals across the constituency - witnessing people going above and beyond in their civic and social duty to help others in times of need makes me proud to represent and serve the area. I thank you for that opportunity, and I wish you all a very merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous new year.

Jo Blogs! Jo Wheeler

Here we are! Into December and the run up to Christmas. Even though the shops worked overnight to get the festive stock in on Bonfire night, as far as I'm concerned, Christmas really belongs in December! Not just December, but the end of December, in fact, so far into December it's almost next year! And I've always believed that's where it should stay; not popping up in magazines at the end of September.

But I've changed my mind, ever so slightly, this year. And it's all to do with Advent Calendars. These used to be pretty Christmas scenes with a window to open each day in the 'countdown' to the big day; windows that revealed a little picture, exciting enough to have us jumping out of bed early to discover the hidden snowman/candle/nativity scene. Gosh, we were easily pleased in those days.

Then came the insurmountable glee of chocolate advent calendars! A quick sugar rush before school or work! No better way to start the day than with a healthy dose of chocolate. And I genuinely believed this was the pinnacle of the Christmas crescendo.

But last year, I discovered cosmetic calendars. Same principle, but each door contained a different beauty product. I got seriously caught out by these! Not only were the calendars costly, but they were only available with another purchase and I found myself buying bizarre things simply to secure the calendars for three daughters. And it was me at their bedroom door each morning, not just to wake them up but to discover the day's treat! I also found a tea calendar, with a different blend for each day of December and felt my cup runneth over! With tea that is.

So what's on offer this year I hear you ask? And I wonder if I have enough space here to outline all the alternatives! You can choose from gin or whisky calendars, biscuit calendars, candle and bath salt calendars. I've found a tool box advent calendar with the promise of a full set by Christmas Day. (This one concerns me a little as my experience of tool requirement is that it's usually quite urgent and embracing. A flood, of which I have experienced three in the last week, may require spanners, wrenches, screwdrivers, a tankful of fuel to get to and from the DIY store and an industrial humidifier. I don't think you'd get an industrial humidifier into an advent calendar. And I don't fancy propping up a broken fence for four days straight whilst explaining to my irritated neighbours that I'm hoping to find a cement mixer on Christmas Eve!) I digress, pork crackling (6 varieties), lego and little horse world; marshmallows, sparkling wine and even breakfast cereal. If it is the beauty product calendar that rings your chimes, then the choices are endless, just pick your favourite brand and take out a second mortgage.

Obviously, this is the kind of choice really needed to make last month – it's probably too late now. And isn't it just a bit much? Surely the old fashioned picture window ones just cranked up the anticipation of the 'day of plenty' instead of giving gratification every day. And don't get me started on what we CAN'T buy for each other anymore! Books, music, games, diaries and calendars all exist on mobile phones which leaves....clothes. Just clothes and makeup. And a full toolbox.

So how about this, the 'Reverse Advent Calendar.' I have stolen this idea, (unashamedly) from social media! For this one, all you need is a box, an empty box. I suppose you could decorate it if you are that way inclined. I am not, (I even nominate the dog when it comes to dressing the Christmas tree else it looks as though I've blindfolded myself and thrown the ornaments from a distant corner of the room.) And then, through December, you put something IN it every day. The choice is all yours. I suppose it might be useful to know who you're thinking of giving it to come Christmas Eve, but it's not vital. Whatever variety of festive items you choose to include is likely to make a very real difference to someone's Christmas, and more importantly, will let them know how much you were thinking of them when you put it all together. Trust me, I'll not be turning my nose up at a Dior Advent Calendar should some wealthy benefactor decide I deserve one, but I know how much more pleasure I'll get from making and gifting a 'reverse calendar'. And isn't that the true spirit of Christmas?

SKEGNESS TOWN COUNCIL TOWER PAVILION PROJECT CONSULTATION

November 2017

1. Current Position

Skegness Town Council made a Coastal Community Fund application in 2016 to replace the dilapidated Pavilion building with a Community enterprise, events and heritage Hub. Unfortunately, this bid was unsuccessful. Skegness Town Council still considers this an important area needing urgent regeneration to improve Tower Gardens and provide a much-needed amenity for the residents of Skegness. The site is currently owned and managed by East Lindsey District Council, initial discussions indicate that they would transfer this asset to Skegness Town Council if it was for the benefit of the community. If Skegness Town Council does not act the future of this site is unknown and is in the hands of East Lindsey District Council.

2. New Pavilion Project

The Town Council remains committed to replacing this dilapidated pavilion building, as a result of a failed grant bid and with other grant opportunities dwindling the Council now considers that self-funding a smaller scheme will deliver a successful outcome for the Town. After conducting research on similar projects, the Council is confident it can deliver a community building at the site with a budget of approx. 1.5 million, a target completion date has been set for Spring 2019.

3. How much will this cost?

As an illustration, if the Town Council was to take out a loan today for the whole £1,500,000 (the maximum the Council would consider, it may be less) repayable over 30 years (the original Pavilion was used for over 100 years), the cost per year would be £74,000 and this equates to approximately £13.87 per household per year or 26p per week (less than 0.9% of current band D council tax). This would be held on a fixed interest rate which are currently at historically low levels and currently lower than the rate of inflation.

However, by careful management and re-prioritisation of the Council's Business Plan objectives and budget, the Council can achieve its aim to build a new pavilion in Tower Gardens and its other main objectives with a below inflation increase in the precept in 2018/19. This works out to about an extra 4p per week for a band D property. Most people's properties in Skegness are Band C or below and will pay up to a third less than this.

Over and above the Business Plan, the Council recommend raising an additional 3p per week (band D property) to contribute to the Council's reserves so that future annual precept increases can be maintained at a similar 7p – 8p per week over the life of the Business Plan, based on currently planned service levels and economic circumstances. Support for the approach of smoothing out peaks and troughs in income and expenditure is being sort as part of the budget communication and consultation.

Please return completed forms to Skegness Town Council, The Town Hall, North Parade, Skegness, PE25 1DA.

4. New Project Principles

- To replace the dilapidated pavilion building with a new fully accessible community building sympathetic to the area and to the building it is to replace.
- To provide a building with at least 80% of the space dedicated to community use including a community hall, community meeting room, kitchen/café to service the hall, changing places facility (to include hoist) and disabled access toilets.
- To fund the build through the precept with business plan objectives amended to ensure the project is delivered will minimal increase to the precept.
- To look at future funding opportunities once the pavilion is built to develop the site further to include a heritage centre and provide equipment for the community to use in the hall.
- To provide a small office space (less than 20% of the building) for Skegness Town Council to be based and manage the administration and maintenance of the building, giving the pavilion a sustainable future.

5. The Council needs you

For this project to be successful the Council needs your ideas, comments, feedback and support. In this initial phase the Council needs to know if you support the project principles? The project can then be developed, and plans produced which can then be consulted on further with your input into the design and use of the space.

The information gathered will only be used to inform the Council of the support or otherwise for the new pavilion project principles, your postcode is needed to determine if you live within the parish boundary. The information will not be shared with any marketing agencies but may be shared with the Department of Communities and Local Government if a borrowing application is made. The Council is obliged to respect your confidentiality and will only hold this information for as long as necessary.

I AGREE with the project principles and believe that Skegness Town Council should determine the future of the site.

Name	Signed	Date	Postcode

I DO NOT agree with the project principles and think ELDC should decide the future of the site

My life as a Girl Chorister at Lincoln Cathedral

My name is Georgia Stone and I am 11 years old. I love being a Chorister and I love singing, I mean I really love singing. It's early November and I don't have day off now until Boxing Day but let me tell you it does not bother me, it only bothers me when I cannot sing during the summer holidays!

My day starts when my alarm goes off at 6.30 am and then I'm on automatic pilot to get ready for choir practice which starts at 7.45 am for an hour. I get coaxed, pushed, prodded and if all else fails the cold flannel treatment to get me out of bed, usually though it does not take too much encouragement to get me going. Despite being half asleep, once I arrive at the Cathedral Song School we all practice the pieces being used in the week's services. Now that winter is nearing I like to wear my bobble hat to keep my head warm during practice. In the girls' choir we have 20 girl choristers at Lincoln Cathedral – we were one of the first Cathedral Choirs to have girls to sing so we think that is really cool. The Cathedral Choirs now accept choristers from all schools so we have a colourful range of school uniforms!

Once Choir practice is finished, I'm off to Lincoln Minster School to which I am lucky to be able to go. I started in the senior school this year so from being the oldest in Year 6 I have now become one of the youngest in Year 7, that's ok though because I can handle myself and get on with most of the students. I work hard at all my subjects and I have the privilege of being able to learn the flute and piano and LMS gives me the opportunities to excel in the area that I love (Music). In addition to the Cathedral Choir I sing for the School's Chamber Choir and play in Flashy Flutes and the Symphonic Wind Band. Yes I like to take part in everything, I don't like to miss a thing. They also like to push me which I like.

When at home and in between my mum telling me to tidy my room I listen to Ed Sheeran, Adele, James Galloway (my love of the flute). However my dad can be a touch crazy in the mornings when driving me in to choir. Every now and then (to my annoyance) he will suddenly decide to re-educate my musical tastes and will change my music and put on Guns and Roses, U2 or Bon Jovi very loud! He's crazy. He calls it "proper music"! I call it noise! As for TV I am a big fan of Strictly and I whisper this quietly "Pepper Pig!" You can never be too old for Pepper Pig and muddy puddles! Ha ha!

Once School has finished on a Monday and Thursday, I go back to the Cathedral for further practice and Evensong. This lasts for around 45 minutes and my mum will take me home at around 6.30. I'm tired and the first thing I do is check my phone for messages! I usually answer these but to be honest I get myself into trouble with my phone, my mum and dad seem to think I am attached to it! At present I am on probation so I cannot say too much! Anyway Mondays and Thursdays are long days and we have to practice Tuesday and Friday mornings. Weekends we either do Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning or Sunday afternoon. Yes it's a long week but I enjoy every bit of it and would not change a thing.

In the six weeks up to Christmas though it's non-stop. Performances, in addition to our normal weekly schedule, include Messiah, The Snowman (where I have a solo), Christmas Market, Ceremony of Carols and one of my favourites Carols by Candlelight. The girls always love seeing each other on Christmas Day (two services this year). Maybe we will get snow this year! (if so, we could build a snowman at the Cathedral). For Lincoln Minster School, The Chamber Choir have been asked to participate in a new Choral production called Wassail by Alexander L'Estrange which is being held in Manchester which I am excited about and also our Winter Concert. Yes it's busy, busy, busy - well if nothing else it keeps my mum and dad out of trouble. I hope you have enjoyed reading about a Chorister's life. Hopefully I will see you at the Cathedral over Christmas.

Community Diary Dates November 2017

We hope you are enjoying reading Shoreline each month. We are working to improve the magazine each month and we would appreciate any feedback from you.

Each month we show the Church Diary Dates. We would like to have a page of Community Diary Dates but we need you to tell us those dates. If you know of any event that is happening in the area please do let us know so that we can add it to the diary. The more people who know the more support you will get at your event!
